AUSTRO-GERMANS HAVE PRACTICALLY CLEARED GALICIA OF RUSSIANS

Fall of Lemberg the Climax of Great Drive From the Carparthian Mountains.

TEUTONS CELEBRATING

Petrograd Tells of Systematic Withdrawal of Troops and Munitions.

Booty to Fall Into Austro-German Hands Small.

London, June 23.—The Russians have lost Lemberg. They occupied the Galician capital early in September and held it continuously until Tuesday, when the combined Austro-German forces compelled them to retreat from the city, which is only sixty odd miles due west from the nearest point of the Russian frontier.

Army May be Cut Off.

Whether the fall of Lemberg means that the Russian army operating south of it in Southern Galicia is effectively cut off from the army to the north stretching across Poland to the Baltic, cannot yet be said. Vienna and Berlin newspapers say this is the case, and that the Russian arms have received a blow from which they cannot recover.

If the stroke proves as crushing as the Teutons predict, its effect, military observers here say, soon should be felt in the transfer of vast German forces to the West, where for days they have been hard pressed by the French.

Up to 10:30 o'clock tonight Petrograd had not conceded the fall of Lemberg. Previous dispatches from the Russian capital, however, related details of what purported to be the systematic withdrawal of the Russians from the town and if these details should prove correct it is believed in military circles that when the count is taken of the Austro-German booty it will not be large, for, as was the case at Przemysl, the Russians are said to have worked hard to move everything of military value.

Russians Fought Hard.

Telegrams from Vienna concerning the capture of Lemberg and recounting the celebration of the populace in Vienna over the victory add that the newspaper correspondents with the Teutonic armies pay tribute to the magnificent rear guard action fought by the Russians, who are declared to have retreated eastward in good order, leaving behind few prisoners and even removing the Russian documents from the city which, since the Russians occupied it, has been called by them Lwow.

One telegram from Vienna says Emperor William and Emperor Francis-Joseph purpose to meet soon in the recaptured Galician capital for "fitting ceremonies to mark the end of Russia's dominance of Galicia."

The news of the fall of Lemberg was known on the continent yesterday but it did not reach London until late today. Then bulletins arrived almost simultaneously by wireless from Berlin and Vienna by way of Amsterdam. The British press had been expecting such a development and there was no more than passing comment on it, though it drove home, according to military observers, the fact how ample must have been the Austro-German ammunition supply to accomplish the feat.

Berlin and Vienna are reported joyful over the victory of their forces. Archduke Frederick of Austria, commander-in-chief of the Austrian forces, and General August Von Mackensen, of the German army, both have been made field marshals of the Prussian army in recognition of their services in the Galician campaign.

On the river Dneister, south of Lemberg, the battle still rages.

GERMAN SPY IS SHOT.

British Government Makes Known the Fact in Brief Announcement.

London, June 23.—F. Robert Muller, who on June 4th was found guilty at the Old Bailey police court of being a German spy, was executed in the Tower of London today by shooting.

Another alleged German spy, Robert Rosenthal, who is said by the police to have confessed that he was sent to England by the German admiralty to obtain information on naval matters is to be court martialed.

The official announcement concerning Muller and Rosenthal was extremely brief, stating merely that Muller had been put to death in the tower today and that the "summary of the evidence in the case of the alleged spy Rosenthal was taken to the Wellington barracks today. He will be tried by court martial."

It is presumed that Muller faced a firing squad in the yard of the Tower of London at dawn as did Carl Hans Lody, executed last November after he had been convicted of spying.

F. Robert Muller was arrested some time ago with Anton Kuepferle and a man named Hahn. All three were accused of sending military information to Germany by means of invisible ink. Muller and Hahn were convicted and Muller was sentenced to death while Hahn was sentenced to seven years penal servitude. Kuepferle committed suicide while his trial was in progress. Muller once lived in Boston where he

Governor John Marshall Slaton, of Georgia.

When Governor John Marshall Slaton, of Georgia, commuted the sentence of Leo M. Frank to life imprisonment, he issued a statement in which he said:

"Feeling as I do about this case I would be a murderer if I allowed this man to hang. It means that I must live in obscurity the rest of my days, but I would rather be plowing in a field than to feel for the rest of my life that I had that man's blood on my hands."

THIRTEEN THINK HARRY THAW SANE

Harry Himself Numbered in the Thirteen to Testify.

MORE ARE T OBE HEARD

Whole Sordid Story of Thaw Case Will Be Dragged to Light Again Before Trial is Over Indicted by Attorney.

New York, June 26.—Thirteen witnesses, including Thaw himself, testified today that they believed Harry K. Thaw is sane. They appeared in proceedings before a jury to test Thaw's present mental state, on the outcome of which depends whether the slayer of Stanford White will go free or return to the insane asylum from which he escaped.

Witnesses included four jurors at Thaw's former trial, two chaplains, a physician and a keeper at the tombs prison where Thaw at various times was confined, two newspaper men who had been associated with him during the nine years' history of Thaw litigation, a lawyer who had met Thaw in New Hampshire and a juror in civil proceedings instituted by one of Thaw's former attorney's against Thaw's mother.

All agreed that Thaw showed no symptoms of delusion, that he could talk intelligently on many subjects, had never been violent to their knowledge and appeared rational.

Appeared Composed.

Thaw apepared composed on the witness stand, and answered his attorneys' questions in a well modulated voice and without hesitation. He described the story of his escape from Matteawan and said he left because physicians had told him he was sane and because he himself believed he was.

Cross-examination was postponed.

That the whole sordid history of the Thaw case would be dragged to light against before the trial is concluded, was indicated by Deputy Attorney General Cook in his address. He said the state would prove Thaw was an incurable paranoiac and was morally perverted.

In his cross-examination of the witnesses today, Cook put questions designed to impress on the jury that a man suffering from the form of insanity which the state alleges Thaw possesses, might appear perfectly rational in his ordinary associations, even mentally brilliant. One important witness whom the state desires to call, Susan Merrill whose home Thaw was

QUAKES THREATEN IRRIGATION DAM

Much Damage is Done by Tremors in California.

SEVERAL WERE KILLED

Anxiety of Settlers in Imperial Valley is Now Centered in Head Gates of Great Irrigation System. Badly Shaken.

El Centro, Cal., June 23. — Sharp earth shocks today centered the anxiety of Imperial valley settlers on the head gates of the great irrigation system which had transformed nearly 250,000 acres of desert. Tonight the intakes of the Colorado river, near Yuma, and the headway at Sharps, were reported safe, although the Sharps heading was shaken and sagged.

Engineers reported that another shock as severe as the one that last night rocked the little cluster of towns in the valley and cost half a dozen or more lives in the Mexican border town of Mexicali, undoubtedly would wreck the works there.

Scientists appear to agree that last night's shocks lay along the line of what is known as the San Andreas Fault in the earth's formation, which was involved in the North Central California earthquake of 1906.

Damage estimated at $400,000 was done in the district extending roughly from the shoulder of the Cocopah mountains of Lower California to San Bernardino and Needles, California, on the North Yuma in the east, and San Diego on the west.

Center of Disturbance.

The zone where the tremors were felt most centered about Calexico nad Mexicali, where the free revelry of a frontier collection of saloons and dance halls was halted when the first shock put out the lights and where all the fatalities occurred. The men and women killed were crushed beneath the adobe walls of cabaret hall.

Rebuilding already has begun. In this city, where an entire block of the business section was ruined, gangs of men were at work today clearing the debris. The damage here was estimated at something close to $200,000. The loss at Calexico was estimated at less than that.

Several fires at Calexico added to the damage done there by the quakes which threw the municipal water tank off its sixty-foot tower. The collapse of the tower deprived the town of water pressure and the fires burned several residences and two business buildings.

North of El Centro the damage was comparatively light. Towns further up the valley suffered slightly. No damage was done outside of the valley.

Meager reports brought here by train and automobile said that six or seven men and women had been killed at Mexicali and that the bodies of two men had been taken from the debris and identified.

Strict guard was established in the various towns as soon as the quakes began. Special deputies here and at Calexico, a troop of United States cavalry which had been patrolling the border, kept order and protected property.

Across the line Colonel Estaban Cantu, the Mexican commandant, established martial law.

WILSON PAYS VISIT TO "SUMMER WHITE HOUSE"

Will Spend Until July 6 at Cornish Resting

President Will See His Old Friend House Today and Talk Over Later's Recent Trip to Europe. To be Kept Posted.

Washington, June 23.—President Wilson left tonight on a trip to Roslyn, N. Y., and Cornish, N. H., intending to be away from Washington until July 6th.

The President plans to spend tomorrow with his friend, Col. E. M. House, at Roslyn, leaving there at night for the "Summer White House," at Cornish, where he will arrive Friday afternoon. Tomorrow will be the first time the President has seen Colonel House since his return from Europe. They will discuss the war situation generally and the colonel will inform the President of the views he gained during personal interviews with European officials concerning the possibility of peace and questions at issue between the United States and European countries.

He also will tell the result of his inquiry of the possibility of co-ordinating American relief work abroad.

During the President's stay in Cornish he will be kept in constant touch with developments in the European and Mexican situations.

On the trip north the President was accompanied by Miss Margaret Wilson and Dr. Cary T. Grayson. He will be joined at Cornish by Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, and Francis Woodrow Sayre, the President's grandson.

There was a bride on the trip. John Q. Slye, a secret service man attached to the White House, and Miss Johanna Hendrick, of Washington, were married today and will spend their honeymoon at Cornish.

CARRANZA FLATLY REFUSES TO TALK PEACE WITH VILLA

Informs United States That He Will Continue His Military Campaign.

WILSON GETS REPORT

At First Hand of Views and Intentions of General Carranza.

Washington, June 23. — General Vennustiano Carranza has informed the United States that under no circumstances will he treat with General Villa and that he will continue his military campaign to crush his adversaries.

President Wilson today had a long report on General Carranza's views as given in informal conversation with an American consular officer at Vera Cruz. He found in it little hope for an accommodation of differences between the Mexican factions. General Carranza reiterated that his was not a campaign for the elevation of personalities, but for the principles of the revolution, that his opponents were reactionaries, and desirous only of satisfying personal ambitions.

Outlining his plans for the future, Carranza declared he soon would dominate the situation and would grant amnesty to all who were not guilty of crimes. General Villa and his associates, however, according to General Carranza, either must leave the country or be tried by a military court.

Carranza's Stand No Surprise.

General Carranza's views did not surprise officials here, as he consistently has ignored all offers of peace made by the Villa-Zapata faction, as well as suggestions of foreign mediators.

There is a possibility, however, that Carranza does not understand the earnestness of the United States in demanding an early settlement of the trouble in Mexico.

Charles A. Douglas and Eliseo Arredondo, representatives of General Carranza, will leave here on Friday for Vera Cruz, to confer further with the first chief. They are familiar with the American point of view, and know there must be a conciliatory disposition on the part of Carranza toward his opponents before he can hope for the moral support of the United States.

No advices have been received officially as to the outcome of reported differences between Carranza and Obregon. Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative of the Villa-Zapata government, today gave out messages from General Villa and from General Angeles, denying that any friction existed between the two.

Seattle, Wash., June 23.—That large shipments of war material for Russia have been cancelled by American manufacturers who are said to be unable to obtain cash payments for their products became known today when the Great Northern Steamship Company announced that the liner Minnesota probably will not include Vladivostok as a port of call on her next voyage.

The Minnesota was scheduled to sail direct from Seattle to Vladivostok June 27 with practically a full cargo for the Russian government. Seventy-five per cent. of these shipments have been cancelled by manufacturers.

BATTLES RAGE ABOVE THE CLOUDS IN ALPS

Fighting in Mountains of Austria Picturesque.

Batteries Stationed Above the Clouds Blaze Away at Each Other Entirely Out of View of Those in the Valley Below.

Geneva, via Paris, June 23.—Newspapers of the Canton of Grisons, Eastern Switzerland, give details obtained from Swiss soldiers and guides respecting the fighting at Stelvio Pass and the neighboring heights overlooking the Vallentine valley. This region is known as the rear door to Italy, through which it would be possible to threaten Milan.

The Austrians have fortified Stelvio Pass strongly with mountain artillery and blockhouses. The Italians hold other passes nearby and duels are in progress daily above the clouds which cut off the valleys from view. In consequence both the Austrians and Italians have to depend upon field telephones for obtaining the range for their guns.

Italian Howitzers lower down have the exact range of the top of the pass and fire through the clouds. Their principal target is a hotel on the summit in which the Austrian staff is lodged. Dreispachen Spitz, with an altitude of 9,327 feet, which is an Austrian artillery station, is being bombarded from Scurlazo. In one hour the Italians dropped 85 shells there, working havoc to the summer hotels.

Stelvio Pass is covered with two feet of snow. At night it presents an unusual spectacle, being illuminated by the searchlights of both sides and by flashes of artillery fire piercing the clouds.

TAR HEEL DENTISTS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Iredell Meares Welcomes Them to Wrightsville Beach.

MANY IN ATTENDANCE

Dr. S. Robert Horton, of Raleigh, Responds—Dr. McClung Reads Annual Essay—President J. A. Sinclair's Address.

The 41st annual convention of the North Carolina Dental Society opened last night at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, with an unusually large attendance. Hon. W. P. Stacy, Esq., who had been scheduled to deliver the address of welcome, had been called away, and Iredell Meares, Esq., filled his place with a most cordial and eloquent address, making every one of the visitors feel welcome and at home.

Following the address of welcome, Dr. S. Robert Horton, of Raleigh, responded in place of Dr. D. L. James, of Greenville, N. C., who was taken ill just a few minutes before the convention opened. Dr. Horton spoke of the hearty spirit of Wilmington in welcoming visitors to the City by the Sea. It's just their way, he said. "They have had so much practice, because located as they are, where people want to come most when the summer season opens and it gets too hot for comfort back inland." He made a splendid talk.

The convention was opened with an invocation by Rev. Dr. B. W. Spilman, of Kinston, who is attending the Baptist Seaside Chautauqua, in the absence of Rev. A. D. McClure, of Wilmington, who was unable to be present.

Annual Essay Read.

A feature of the evening was the annual essay, by Dr. J. A. McClung, of Winston-Salem. The subject of Dr. McClung's essay was, "The Personality of the Dentist in Relation to His Reputation and Success."

The reader had prepared an essay full of thought and wholesome advice to the young dentist just beginning to build up his practice. He advised first from the business standpoint, that the dentist begin by dealing on the square with everybody in every line of business. Then he advised in regard to the social side of the young dentist's life and the influence it would make for him. Experitness in his art is absolutely essential, but it is also essential that his life be exemplary and that he not associate with men whose reputation is not wholesome.

That the attractiveness and comfort of the office has a world to do with the dentist's personality in his community was a leading idea expressed in the paper. This with the dentist observing sanitary laws, both in appearance and in actuality and being manly and sticking squarely to the job, was the theme of the whole essay. The closing remarks contained the whole. The young dentist should depend upon winning what he gets from his profession entirely on merit.

President's Address.

The feature of last evening was the annual address by the president, Dr. J. A. Sinclair, of Asheville, which follows:

"It was no small nor no insignificant honor, that was evidenced by my associates when I was elected president of the North Carolina Dental Association. This distinction was accepted with a full realization of the responsibilities it carried, and with a determination that the best of my efforts would be directed toward the interest of our

CONFERENCE HELD TO CONSIDER COMPLAINTS

That Military Information is Given Vessels at Sea.

Wireless Station at Sayville, N. Y., Alleged to Be Used by Men Operating With Ships at Sea—No Action Taken.

Washington, June 23.—Secretaries Lansing, Daniels and Redfield, Commissioner Chamberlain of the navigation commission, and Captain Bullard, in charge of the naval radio service, had a long conference today, the purpose of which was not officially disclosed. Later Secretaries Redfield and Daniels conferred with President Wilson.

Secretary Daniels pronounced without foundation reports that the wireless censorship was about to be lifted or new regulations issued. It is understood, however, that complaints that messages containing military information were being transmitted to ships at sea through the Sayville, L. I., wireless station, were considered, though no action was taken. Some of the complaints have stated that messages written in plain language in reality constituted a concealed code or hidden meaning.

The naval censors now have orders to paraphrase messages so far as is possible without altering the sense. The use of figures in financial and commercial transactions has been cited, however, as a means of evading the censorship.

Tyler, Tex., June 23.—Captain John Winship, aged 83, one of the original manufacturers of cotton gins, died here late last night. Mr. Winship was born in Georgia.

ROBERT LANSING MADE SECRETARY OF STATE TO SUCCEED MR. BRYAN

"Golden Rule" Warden's Wife Victim of Kindness

Mrs. Odette Maizee Bordeaux Allen.

Joliet, Ill., June 13.—Finding of Mrs. Edmund M. Allen's pocketbook containing several hundred dollars and valuable jewelry caused penitentiary officials today to abandon the theory that robbery might have been the motive for the murder of the prison warden's wife last Sunday morning. The purse was found among the debris of the charred bedroom where Mrs. Allen's body was discovered.

The coroner's jury will resume its inquest tomorrow.

A letter from the hundreds of convicts in the penitentiary received by the warden caused him to declare that it was not the honor system that caused his wife's death and that his confidence in "his boys" was unshaken.

BRITISH LABOR IS GIVEN SEVEN DAYS

By David Lloyd-George in Which to Keep Promise.

RALLY TO FACTORIES

Great Campaign for Workmen to Labor in Munitions Factories Begins This Morning—Law Allows Compulsion to Work.

London, June 23.—David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, has given British labor seven days in which to make good the promise of its leaders that the men will rally to the factories in sufficient numbers to produce a maximum supply of munitions of war.

This was the most striking statement in the ministers' speech in the house of commons today, in which he outlined the measure designed to control not only the munitions output but the men responsible for production.

The first of the seven allotted days will begin tomorrow and with its dawning, will be launched a great campaign to recruit the workers.

"I had a fresh discussion with the trades union leaders," said Lloyd-George, "and told them if an adequate supply of labor could not be secured compulsion was inevitable. The union representatives answered:

"'Give us a chance to supply the men needed in seven days; if we cannot get them we will admit that our case is considerably weakened.'

Seven Days Begin Today.

"The seven days will begin tomorrow," continued Lloyd George, "and advertisements will appear in all papers. The union representatives have engaged 180 town halls as recruiting offices and the assistance of every one has been invited."

There will be no age-limit to the men enrolled and they will not wear uniforms but will have to give their full time to the work and they will receive a certificate attesting that they are working for king and country.

The munitions bill makes strikes and lockouts illegal; provides for compulsory arbitration; limits the profits of employers; creates a voluntary army of workmen pledged to go wherever they are wanted and contains other provisions which will give the minister full powers to carry out the plans he has devised to develop the production of munitions.

After emphasizing the absolute necessity of vast supplies of guns and ammunition, which he described as the "great essential of victory" the minister announced that he sent David Al-

Appointment Gives Widespread Satisfaction at Capital and Elsewhere.

HAS MUCH EXPERIENCE

Is Probably the Most Experienced International Lawyer in the World.

Life Long Democrat, but Has No Political Backing.

Washington, June 23.—Robert Lansing, who as counsellor of the State Department has advised President Wilson in law and precedent in the policy pursued in the United States toward belligerent governments since the outbreak of the European war, was named today Secretary of State to succeed William Jennings Bryan.

Few appointments in recent years have given such widespread satisfaction in the national capital. Mr. Lansing is a life-long Democrat but he has devoted his time to international law and diplomacy and is as popular with former Republican officials as with his colleagues. Members of the cabinet and close personal friends of the President advised the selection, and Mr. Bryan himself, although not consulted, is understood to have hoped for the promotion of Mr. Lansing.

Official announcement of the selection of Mr. Lansing, who has been serving as Secretary ad Interim since the resignation of Mr. Bryan on June 8, was made in the following statement:

"Before leaving this evening for a brief rest in New Hampshire the President announced that he had offered the post of Secretary of State to Mr. Robert Lansing, the present counsellor of the Department of State, and that Mr. Lansing had accepted the appointment."

Commission is Signed.

A commission was prepared which President Wilson signed tonight giving Mr. Lansing a recess appointment. When Congress reconvenes the nomination will go to the Senate. No position is anticipated.

One of the peculiar circumstances in connection with Mr. Lansing's appointment is the fact that he personally has no political backing. This very fact commended itself to the President's advisors as a reason for the appointment of a man of Mr. Lansing's experience and ability, the argument being advanced that at so critical a time in the nation's history, the people of the United States wished all political considerations subordinated. Mr. Lansing takes office thoroughly familiar with the personnel and organization of the Department of State, conversant with confidential details of all the important negotiations conducted by the United States since the Wilson administration began. Moreover he has a knowledge of policies under previous administrations and an especially intimate acquaintance with Mexican affairs and Far Eastern problems.

Mr. Lancing is 51 years old, a native of Watertown, N. Y., and a descendant of the family of John Lansing, who represented New York in the constitutional convention of 1787 at Philadelphia and later was chancellor of the State of New York.

Established Wonderful Record.

After graduation from Amherst College in 1886 Mr. Lansing chose the profession of his father and ancestors—the law—and continued in private practice except when retained by the American government or foreign nations in important cases. He has represented the United States in more international arbitrations wrote that Mr. Lansing probably had had a longer and broader experience in international arbitration and had appeared more frequently before international tribunals than any living lawyer.

In 1892 Mr. Lansing was appointed associate counsel for the United States in the fur seal arbitration and attended the sessions of the International tribunal at Paris in 1893. In 1894-95 he was counsel for the Mexican and Chinese legations in Washington. In 1896 he was appointed by Secretary of State Richard Olney counsel for the government before the Bering sea claims commission. In 1898-99 he was counsel for private parties before the Canadian joint high commission and counsellor for the Mexican and Chinese legations once more. He became solicitor and counsel for the United States government before the Alaskan boundary tribunal in London, was counsel in the Venezuelan asphalt disputes in 1905; counsel for the United States in the Atlantic Fisheries Arbitration at The Hague in 1908, testimonial delegate in the fur seal conference at Washington in 1911 and special counsel for the Department of State in various pending diplomatic questions. In 1911 he became counsel for the United States in the American British claims arbitration and from 1913 until April 1, 1914, when he became counsellor of the State Department to succeed John Bassett Moore he represented the United States before this commission.

Mr. Lansing was one of the founders of the American Society of international law and has written a book on constitutional law.

For many years Mr. Lansing, who is a man of considerable means, has lived here with his father-in-law, John W. Foster, Secretary of State under President Harrison. Mrs. Lansing is one of the popular members of the official and diplomatic set having breathed the atmosphere of diplomacy since childhood. They have no children.

ROCKY MOUNT DEFEATED BY PETERSBURG IN 10 INNINGS.

Rocky Mount, N. C., June 23.—Fighting hard at every point, Petersburg made a win of the last of the series in a 10-inning clash this afternoon in which a home run with a man on base by Calder gave the Nuts a lead, while it was tied in the eighth, when Eisel sent a pounder out of the park with a man on a corner. Petersburg again took the lead in the 10th, when successive hits and a stolen base after Busch had fanned gave the visitors the winning tally.

While the Down Homers were losing to the Nuts, the Shipbuilders were dropping a double bill to the Norfolk Tars and tonight finds two teams tied for the first place, the second time this year this has occurred. The Tar Heels have never asserted complete ownership of the top rung. Pope, the Harnett county speed king, was hit hard and it was his great work in the pinches that kept the visitors from running up a big score. All athletic contests in baseball, football and track will be held on this field.

Captain Emerson is a native of Chapel Hill and an alumnus of the University. He is owner and proprietor of the Emerson Drug Company, of Baltimore, and a man of great wealth.

NO MORE WELLS FOR PRESENT

City Council Decides to Go Slow in Expending Money—Owners Must Have Sidewalks Laid.

City Council decided at its regular weekly meeting yesterday to wait a while before having any more deep wells sunk. Councilman Jones presented a petition from citizens requesting that a well be sunk at Third and Wooster streets. Councilman McCaig thought it would not be wise to undertake to sink the well without knowing where the money is to come from. He said that the present budget already provides for the expenditure of $2,000 more than was received by the city last year.

Councilmen Hall and Bradshaw were of the opinion that a well is needed worse at Third and Wooster than at Sixth and Orange, where arrangements have already been made to sink a well. It was decided to hold the latter also in abeyance until it can be determined how much revenue the city will have this year. Councilman Jones said that there is no item on his budget to which the expense could be charged and, therefore, a special appropriation would be required.

Mr. Clark, of the Clark-Lynch Lumber Company, requested Council to furnish teams for removing trash to the incinerator from the old buildings on the customs house site. His firm has the contract for tearing down the structures. He called attention to the large amount of trash which he thought ought to be removed by the city. Col. Walker Taylor, collector of customs, was present and urged that Council arrange to have the rubbish removed.

Councilman Bradshaw said that his department has about all that it can do at present. However, Council decided that the city would have to do the work and he was authorized to provide the teams. Colonel Taylor said that he was sure that work on the new customs house building would begin in the early fall.

Councilman Bradshaw was authorized to pay not in excess of 25 cents a load for hauling brick bats and broken lime from the custom house site to Red Cross and other streets in the city. The material is to be furnished free of charge to the city and is said to make a splendid foundation for building streets.

Council instructed Chief of Police Williams to notify all persons and firms who have failed to pay their license tax to attend to the matter at once. There are a large number who have failed to pay their tax for the last two quarters.

Notice will be sent to a large number of property owners on Market street east of Seventh to have granolithic sidewalks laid in front of their residences. Council adopted a resolution notifying Mrs. W. A. Wright to have a new sidewalk put down in front of her property on Market street to conform to the new grade on that street, the present walk being about two feet too high.

Councilman Bradshaw recommended that a shop for the repairing of the wagons and other vehicles of the street department be established at the city stables. He showed that this would result in a saving to the city and Council agreed to his suggestion. Mr. Hill will have charge of the shop and will be carried on the pay role as an employe of the department and when there is no other work to do will work on the streets.

Councilman McCaig said that it was his purpose to object to any department overdrawing on any appropriation. It is important, he declared, that each department keep within its appropriation. Because of the overdrawn accounts he pointed out that it had been necessary in the past to borrow money.

Councilman McCaig reported that the auditing committee had examined all vouchers for May and with a few exceptions found them to be all right. Those not in proper form were referred to the heads of the departments in which they were issued.

Mayor Moore presided at the meeting and all members were present with the exception of Councilman Bunting, who is out of the city. City Attorney Ruark and Chief of Police Williams were also in attendance. There were few matters of importance to receive attention and most of the session was spent in the discussion of ways and means of conducting the city's affairs along economical lines.

LAWYERS COMMENT ON "GRANDFATHER" CLAUSE

Oklahoma Amendment Different From N. Carolina's

Editor Clarence Poe Points Out Two Problems Presented If North Carolina's Amendment is Adversely Affected.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 23.—After careful readings of the ruling of the United States Supreme Court in the Oklahoma "Grandfather clause" test case and the comparison of the Oklahoma with the North Carolina "Grandfather clause" amendments, leading lawyers hereabouts insist that the North Carolina amendment has a degree of difference from the Oklahoma law that warrants the belief that in case of a test of the North Carolina amendment, the Federal court would uphold it.

It is pointed out that under the North Carolina amendment the literacy test is absolute control of registrations, the "Grandfather clause" having ceased to apply to registrations. It is a fact that the law as drawn and adopted by the people at the polls must stand or fall as a whole, as it especially provides that the whole amendment must become inoperative on the elimination of either the "Grandfather clause" or the literacy feature.

"If the North Carolina amendment is to go the way of Oklahoma's," said Editor Clarence Poe today, "then two problems are presented. If our amendment 'stands or falls as a whole,' as it was said it would do, then we revert to former conditions until a new law is passed. In that case it is likely, of course, that the negroes having somewhat become used to doing without the ballot, will not immediately seek to recover all their lost privileges, but the natural tendency will be for them gradually and steadily to work back to where they were. On the other hand, if the literacy test stands but the grandfather clause is knocked out, then we ought indeed to have a State-wide campaign for moonlight schools so that the State may redeem its pledge that no white man would be deprived of his ballot. It also seems to me that almost an equivalent of the grandfather clause as a safeguard would be a provision extending the suffrage to persons or descendants of persons who served the State or nation in any war—Revolutionary, Mexican, either side of the Civil war, or the Spanish war. I cannot help but feel that this would be accepted as a proper expression of gratitude on the part of a commonwealth, applies in measure to both races, and would not be in conflict with the constitution. I think the plan well worth considering."

MAYOR SUTTON EXONERATED

Case Against Him Nol Prossed—Authority Not Determined.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., June 23.—Mayor Fred I. Sutton was arraigned before Judge T. C. Wooten in city court here yesterday on the charge of aiding in an escape Sutton was served with a warrant on June 14, when the breach between the municipal head and the police judge caused a sensation. The mayor had released two youths charged with a misdemeanor, from the city jail. Judge Wooten declared he had exceeded his authority. Before Sutton's case was brought up the youths were discharged and exonerated. The mayor's counsel stated that that in itself was enough to clear the mayor of the charge of aiding in escape, since the arrest was thus proven false.

Immediately after the case was called Solicitor Shaw nol prossed the case. The mayor demanded a trial, and that by jury. The solicitor stated that the nol prossing left no charge against him upon which he could be tried. The mayor stated that he accepted this action as his exoneration. The original point of authority was not touched upon.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF ROBBING STORE AT MT. OLIVE.

Two Young Men and Boy, All White, Caught at Midnight.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Mt. Olive, N. C., June 23.—C. H. Ellers, Lee Bowden and Spencer Jones, the two former about 25 years old, the latter about 12 years, all white, and well known residents of this place, were taken into custody last night about the midnight hour by Chief of Police W. J. Flowers just after they had made a hasty exit from the Mount Olive Grocery & Hardware Company's store, entrance to which they had effected through the top of the building.

The presence of the thieves in the building was first discovered by an employe of the Hutaff bottling plant here, who was passing along the street about midnight and whose attention was first attracted by a flashlight in use by the thieves. When the thieves left the building, the party who had discovered them in the store covered them with a revolver and prevented their escape until Chief of Police Flowers could be got to the scene, who took them in charge and placed them in the city lock-up until action is taken in the matter by Mayor C. S. Smith.

The worth of their loot was estimated at about $25, most of which was recovered.

Warsaw, N. C., June 23.—Orders have been issued for mail service to be put on the Atlantic and Carolina railroad from here to Kenansville, to become effective June 28. This will not only be an improvement financially, over the present haul by star route, but will be a great convenience to those residing in Kenansville and the surrounding county, as they will be able to receive all Wilmington morning mail, including The Star, arriving here on train No. 48, many hours earlier than at present. Mr. George Rhodes, the present carrier, has held the position for ten years, and is very popular with the patrons he has served so faithfully and efficiently.

THEATRICAL

Allan Hale and Vola Smith are seen to good advantage today in the two-reel Biograph, "Captain Fracasse". This is the stage name of an impoverished young French baron who joins a troupe of strolling players for the sake of the beautiful girl Isabelle. How he won her love; how she made woman's greatest sacrifice, and how Captain Fracasse rescued his lady from extreme peril is the breathless development of this swift and heart-stirring drama which culminates in the revelation of the secret of Isabelle's birth.

The Keystone, "The Beauty Bunglers," is a dandy farce comedy with Chas. Murray as the funny man, like all Keystones, it is full of good rattling swift comedy and keeps the house in an uproar of merriment.

How Helen foils a gang of wire-tappers who are plotting to win a fortune, forms the theme for this exciting episode of the "Hazards of Helen." "A Railroader's Bravery." Her work in this number almost costs her her life, but she wins out in the end.

Mary Fuller is a Big Feature.

Probably after it has gone the rounds, "A Daughter of the Nile", featured at the Bijou today, will be accredited as Mary Fuller's very greatest achievement. We say probably, because popular Mary has pulled off some mighty big things within her Universal experience—but "A Daughter of the Nile" is unlike anything she ever played before.

"A Daughter of the Nile" is the throbbing love story of Arsinoe, the Egyptian—a woman as inscrutable as the desert, as beautiful as the tropics and as silent and brooding as the Sphinx—a woman, the mystery of the ages, who sacrificed life for her love.

Beautiful Mary Fuller in this great role does her very greatest dramatic work, and she is even more beautiful than ever before in the quaint Egyptian setting. It is a strong play, with a rich Oriental staging, featuring as its big elements, love and the lure of mystery, superb realism in every detail, magnificent and costly scenes, continuous action, and a big climax that will thrill and enchant you. It is a play that no admirer of Mary Fuller should miss.

Two rousing big comedy features, "How Billie Got His Raise" and "Aunt Matilda Outwitted," are also on the bill for today.

REVENUES WILL NOT BE AS SMALL AS THOUGHT.

Figures Up to June 1, $30,000,000 Below Last Fall's Estimate.

Washington, June 23.—Customs officials declared tonight that the revenues from customs now in hand for the fiscal year which ends June 30, amount to more than $204,000,000, and that there is a prospect that the total for the year will be close to $210,000,000.

This would be $30,000,00 below the estimates made by Secretary McAdoo last fall, and less by more than $80,000,000 than the receipts last year, before the European war interfered with imports.

The closest calculation as to the amount of customs for the year was made several months ago by A. J. Peters, assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in charge of customs, who figured on $218,000,000.

Similar letters have been received by members of the Liverpool organization.

Stagnant Blood Given A Quick Impulse

Wonderful Activity Imparted by a Famous Remedy.

The appearance of pimples, boils, skin eruptions and all evidence of impure blood, calls for S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. Cathartics, purges, bowel movers and laxatives won't do.

No amount of bile will destroy certain germs which cause blood and skin eruptions. They are away down deep in the tissues, perhaps in the very marrow of the bones. And such a condition calls for the searching influence of S. S. S. It is indeed a remarkable remedy, since it is taken up by the blood stream and never loses its medicinal influence. On and on it goes, through and through the entire system and always with the same definite action to dislodge germs, destroy their activity and stimulate the liver, lungs, kidneys, bowels and skin to throw them out completely.

It stimulates stagnant blood, provides a rational exhilaration to the nerve centers and thereby the natural functions of the body are aroused to cast out intruders, no matter how strongly intrenched they may be. It refutes the ancient theory that to destroy within us the germs that eat into our vitals calls for drugs that destroy our very existence. Get a bottle of S. S. TOP O' THE MORNING

"We are all of us Roadmakers of one kind or another, making the way rougher or smoother for those who came after us."

—MARGUERITE BRYANT.

Welcome to the dentists!

We are not only neutral but more anti-belligerent than ever before. Believe me!

Love your neighbor as you love yourself, but don't love his chickens like you love your own.

The good old ship Housatonic would not know itself if Secretary Daniels were to deprive it of its tonic.

Among the costly liabilities of any nation may be its guarantee of the neutrality or the integrity of a nation that happens to be an innocent bystander.

How many of us are brave enough to do right when we know it might keep us from getting an office, or getting rich quick, or getting a licking, or getting cold feet?

The nations which have remained strictly neutral can congratulate themselves upon the great value of peace compared with the acquirement of dearly bought territory.

A man may despise being full of prune juice, but he has the satisfaction of knowing that he is not liable to kick a clothing dummy for gazing at him without winking an eye.

A considerable public sentiment that will threaten violence to the governor of a great state can be relied upon to intimidate a court and deter a jury from doing justice in the name of a state.

All and singular the belligerents can rest assured of our neutrality, owing to the fact that we are not manifesting the least disposition to fight a single one of them. This is what might be classed as prima facie evidence that we are not one of the friends of war.

The "destiny of Europe was settled" at Waterloo one hundred years ago on the 18th of June, but at the close of the fiscal century Europe has conjured up another destiny to be fought about. A hundred years of intrigue has brought on another crisis for Europe.

"Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war." Nevertheless, it is curious that any renowned advocate of peace may be made the victim of his peace propensities. A peace propagandist may find himself hotly engaged in a war of words in order to defend himself.

Governor Slaton, of Georgia, is braver by far than the several hundred Georgians who were cowardly enough to join a mob to demonstrate before a man worth more than a million of them. However, a man who belongs to the mobocracy ought to know that he is never regarded as a representative citizen of any country.

Mayor Mitchel, of New York, has returned from a great bear hunt in the West, but he says he never got a bear. This is an instance where the truth would be so utterly humiliating to some bear hunters, that, rather than come back and tell on themselves, they would have assassinated a tame bear and paid the owner his price to avoid prosecution.

Spain and Switzerland may have their grievances and sympathies during the war, but they are so wise that they have attended strictly to their own business. Their interests have suffered severely as innocent by-standers but that was reasonably to be expected. Fortitude and horse sense have enabled them to maintain outward calm and neither has threatened to take any of the belligerents by the nape of the neck and make demands that none could be expected to consider seriously while they have graver troubles requiring all the attention they can spare.

THE COMMITTEE ON RESOURCES.

Every county in Eastern North Carolina ought to be well represented at that State-wide meeting in Raleigh on next Tuesday to organize and formulate a plan to give publicity to the resources and potentialities which comprehend the possibilities, adaptabilities and advantages which are the assets upon which a greater State must be built. Each county ought to send representatives who can get a large comprehension of the purposes of the organization to be effected.

Failure to do so might constitute one reason why certain counties will continue to lag behind others. It surely will account for the fact that they will remain in the same old rut and run on the same old punctured tire of the past. The meaning of the Raleigh meeting is that the State is going to get a larger view and broader scope for itself, and all counties represented will get that view and scope for themselves while the State is getting it.

The prospective committee on resources will be heard from at Raleigh and, if there is no report from some neglectful counties, it might be taken for granted that they have no resources worth mentioning at Raleigh and no opportunities for home folks or anybody from abroad. We have got to find out why homeseekers ought to pour into North Carolina and why they don't. We have got to ascertain why North Carolinians go by the thousands to other states instead of remaining in their native State to make it as great as any other state in the Union.

The Raleigh meeting will diagnose the case of North Carolina and find out what is the matter with her, or at least prepare for an early and thorough diagnosis of the case. We will find out that there is nothing the matwith North Carolina but us and a lot of counties that have fallen down on her. We can give an account of our stewardship and mend our ways by getting in company with the pacemakers.

Every county worth a boost ought to be heard from at Raleigh next Tuesday morning.

TREAT BOYS AND GIRLS RIGHT

The best way to make a boy or girl have pride and aspirations is not only to make them feel like they are considered as of some importance but to give them a square deal. What most boys need is a spirit of self-reliance, but in most cases the muffler is put on them at home. A girl needs to be taught independence and to regard herself as more than a hot-house plant, or something of less importance. Here is an acedemic proposition that seems even primative, but there is a good lesson in it, as the Jacksonville Times-Union presents it for careful study:

"An instance has come to our notice of a farmer in this county whose son was a member of a boys' corn club. The young man worked diligently and was duly proud of the result. But his father gathered the crop from the boy's acre and threw it into the corn crib with that from his owns fields. He did concede so much to the boy's pride in his achievement as to roughly measure the amount of the yield on the boy's acre. As all who understand the rules of these contests know, this was of no value at all to the boy and might as well have been omitted. The boy was just as much out of the contest as though he had not entered it.

"A similar instance in this state of a parent's greed was in the case of a young girl in this State who assiduously cultivated her tenth acre last year and canned the products. When she went to her mother's pantry to gather the fruits of her industry to show at the contest in hopes of winning a prize she found almost every can and jar gone. Heartbroken, she inquired of her mother and learned that this excellent parent had been putting these preserved fruits and vegetables on the table whenever she had friends or relatives to entertain and, we understand, even then concealed the fact that her daughter had put them up. This child was out of the running, thanks to her mother.

"No words can express the contempt of any friend of the young for such despicable conduct on the part of a parent. If that boy or that girl leaves the farm as soon as old enough to do so their parents are entirely to blame for their disgust with farm life. Encouraged by decent treatment, instead of being robbed of the fruits of their industry, they might have felt attached to farm life. Now their budding ambition is broken and who can blame them if some other career than that of a farmer or a farmer's wife seem preferable to them?"

Parents might go to church every Sunday and never hear a more practical sermon than the Florida editor has compassed in a few paragraphs. Boys and girls have rights that ought to be respected. Their lives can be better shaped if they get encouragement and even assistance and sympathy. The corn club boy and the tomato club girl only furnish the concrete case for illustration in that particular. To take the ginger and expectation and hope out of a boy or girl is inexcusable, and parents often reap a reward which they do not know they simply have brought on themselves. Here it is, as The Times-Union sends the question home:

"In view of the fact that the primal purpose of the Federal government in fostering these contests is to check the tendency of the youth of the farms to leave them for the cities by showing them that farm life has its rewards and scope for ambition, this man and this woman in their greedy selfishness have deliberately placed themselves athwart the purposes of the government in that regard. In their ignorance they have done much to ruin the future of their boy or their girl. If parents on the farm generally are accustomed to thus trample on the rights of their children it is no wonder that so many of the farm youth look longingly to life in the city. If in their old age these parents turn for help and comfort to their offspring and fail to get either they have but themselves to blame. Injustice rankles in the hearts of the young. They find it harder as they grow up to forgive an injury done them in their youth than one done them later in life."

As a general thing, when a boy gets to be 21 years old he is still dependent upon his father. He has to get all his initiative and purpose in life after he becomes of age. On the contrary, by the time he is 21 years of age he ought to know what he is going to do for himself so he can start to doing it just as soon as he gets to be his own man. The girl ought to have practical ideas by the time she is old enough to know that some day not far away she will be expected to keep house.

PER CAPITA CORN PRODUCTION

In the University News Letter of June 23, Prof. C. M. Moore contributes a North Carolina club study on per capita corn production in the various counties of the State. He bases his statistical facts on the 1910 census, and the demonstration is interesting even if somewhat misleading as figures go, altnough they do not lie. Accompanying a tabulated statement of corn production in each of the counties of the State, Professor Moore furnishes this summarized introduction:

"The per capita consumption of corn in the United States is around 31 bushels per year. This amount is needed each year to furnish food for man, feed for beasts, and to supply the various manufacturing requirements of the nation—corn starch, glucose, distillation of spirits and the like. When more than this per capita amount is produced we have corn to export, and when less, corn to import.

"North Carolina in her earlier days made a much better record than at present. In 1850 she produced 34 bushels for each man, woman and child in the State. Only one county produced a greater yield than this in 4909; Hyde with a record of 42 bushels per annum.

"The thirteenth census further shows that there were only two counties in the State which raised a sufficient supply of corn; Hyde and Clay with records of 42 and 32 bushels respectively.

"The highest record in total production in 1909 was made by Robeson which raised 1,042,050 bushels. Yet Robeson ranks 22nd in her capita yield—producing only 20 bushels, and therefore needing 11 bushels more per inhabitant than it produced.

"Johnston came next with a total of 951431 bushels, and with a record of 23 bushels ranked 11th in per capita yield.

"New Hanover ranked lowest of all the counties of the State, producing slightly more than one bushel per inhabitant.

"Our production decreased from 34 bushels per inhabitant in 1850 to 20 bushels in 1880, and to 15 bushels in 1909; but in 1914 the yield rose to 24 bushels per inhabitant.

"The corn deficit for the entire State in 1880 was 18,758,000 bushels, in 1909 it was 34,331,000 bushels, in 1914 it was 23,339,000 bushels.

"From 1880 to the last census year our population increased 65 per cent, while the increase in corn production was only 26 per cent."

New Hanover county occupies the last place on the list, but it is an invidious comparison. Production is divided by the total population in the county, while the large city population does not farm and while the percentage of rural population is little more than 10 per cent, of the whole population. It is no fair criterion to compare a county almost wholly city with a county almost wholly rural.

In the value of her acreage production, all products, New Hanover leads the State and she is not content to be judged by corn production when it is truck which makes her lands worth a mint of money. The acreage devoted to farming is small in this county, one of the smallest in area in the State, but probably the wealthiest in per capita assets.

HOW TO TREAT GROWING GIRLS AND THEN SOME

The philosophical Phil Armstrong, of the Jacksonville Times-Union, inquires: "How should we treat our growing girls?" Why, we should treat them as queens so long as they are growing beautifully. Meanwhile save your money till they are grown and then begin a more systematic treatment interspersed with flowers, ice cream, chewing gum, confections, joy rides and all sorts of magnificent difference. Throw in numerous hints and give them to understand that you are considering plans by which you propose to acquire possession of the whole town and a large slice of the country. At the same time, never forget to suspect that others are treating them in about the same way, and that sooner or later some "sooner" guy may invite you to be his "best man."

After several years of experience in treating girls, when it finally crops out that the whole bunch look on you only as a newly-found brother, make out like you are more or less engaged to several girls. Sing not "In the Gloaming" nor "This World's but a Fleeting Show to Man's Delusions Given." Simply soak your head, and not so very long thereafter you will find a few more delusions to treat.

After meeting illusions and experiencing several elusions and delusions, you are liable to get in a class with old man Jiggs. In that case, emigrate immediately to prohibition territory and hang right on to the waterwagon, in order to prove to the world that you've got grit enough to "honor and obey" without waiting for the action of any other nation. We are satisfied that this is the way from start to finish—especially the finish.

CURRENT COMMENT.

An esteemed contemporary given to gloom devotes 62 lines of large editorial type to proving the "demonstrable inferiority" of the navy, and nine lines of small type to Secretary Daniels' statement how the navy is being strengthened. The proportion is unusually generous to the Secretary.—New York World.

An announcement that had been expected for a week or so past was that of Mr. J. A. Brown, of Chadbourn, for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Sixth district—the district where the woods are full of them. Mr. Brown is a legislator of much experience, a farmer of large holdings, a famous grower of strawberries, is largely identified with church and educational work and is one of the best known public men of the eastern section of the State. He has been regarded as a congressional possibility for some years past, and his announced intention indicates that he believes his time has come.—Charlotte Observer.

In the famous farming and trucking country between Hamlet and Wilmington the farmers are this week knocking grass at a great rate. The seasons have been the best in years past, the rains of the past few days helping the grass as well as the crops, which accounts for the hustle. There are excellent stands of corn and cotton, the plants of the latter now coming into bloom. The wheat crop was of the blue ribbon variety. There are a few fields in which the shocks yet remain, but as a general thing, the wheat was harvested, shocked and either threshed or moved to the barns, while the stubble was plowed under and a second crop of corn planted. This is an indication of the tendency in the direction of intensive farming in that favored part of the State. The cantaloupe acreage is extensive and the vines in good condition. There is also a larger acreage in watermelons with a promising outlook. This strip along the old K. S. is the section in North Carolina where the buggy has become practically obsolete.—Charlotte Observer.

The following from The Robesonian will be of interest to many friends in Anson, where Mr. Livingstone was born, and where his father lived until a few years ago: "Mr. J. A. Livingstone, a son of Mr. W. W. Livingstone, of St. Pauls, Robeson county, succeeds Mr. H. R. Aiken as city editor of the Wilmington Star, Mr. Aiken having resigned to accept the position of food inspector for New Hanover county. Mr. Livingstone has been a member of the local staff of The Star for the past two years. Robeson county not only has more newspapers than any other county in the State, if we mistake not, but it sends some mighty good newspaper material to other counties. The Star alone has on its force three Robeson county men—Mr. J. E. Thompson, general manager; Mr. J. A. Parham, night editor, and Mr. Livingstone—all good newspaper men." We are surprised that The Robesonian would try to lay such a steady hold on this young man when Anson is his native county and when he actually did his first newspaper work on The Ansonian. Why, man, Old Anson holds quite a lot of stock in the Wilmington Star. We not only furnished them Livingstone, but Thompson, the man who makes the ghost dance every Saturday night in The Star office, is a Morven boy and ought to be proud of it, for the Morven people are proud of him.—Wadesboro Ansonian.

NORTHAMPTON LEADING

809 People Given Initial Treatment Against Typhoid.

(State Board of Haelth.)

The anti-typhoid campaign is on in earnest. It is booming up in Northampton county. The first day the dispensaries opened, 860 men, women and children applied for the treatment. The doctors report an exceedingly hard day's work. They were as busy as they could be every minute of the time. Two sets of dispensaries are being operated, one for the white people and the other for the colored.

In Wake county 592 people applied for the first dose. At Raleigh nearly 50 people applied before the dispensary doors could be opened, and some 20 or more were turned away after the dispensary was closed for the day. One significant fact at the Raleigh dispensary was that the first two persons to apply for the treatment were doctors, and throughout the day a total of 16 Raleigh doctors applied for treatment, practically all the others having already been immunized. Throughout the day the dispensary was crowded with the best class of people in town, and especially mothers with their children.

Henderson county reported a total of 278 treatments given the first day while Cumberland and Buncombe are still to be heard from. It is thought that the total treatments in the five counties will amount to between 2,000 and 2,500 for the first day. When the dispensaries return to the various points a week later to give the second treatment, others who missed the first treatment will be able to take it then.

ANTI-TYPHOID CAMPAIGNS.

Other Counties and Towns Want Them Johnston to Have One.

The movement of the anti-typhoid campaign gains in momentum as it progresses. Communications from Cherokee, Orange, Warren and other counties state that they are interested and want an anti-typhoid campaign launched in their midst. Several towns are interested to the same extent.

Unfortunately the State Board of Health had only limited means with which to fight typhoid this summer, and its efforts were limited accordingly. Ten counties will probably be the extent of the field unless exceptional offers of co-operation are made. The counties that were first to co-operate with the board were the ten counties chosen. Already the campaign is working in five counties and the second of August will begin the work in the other five.

In addition to these counties conducting special anti-typhoid campaigns the ten counties having whole time health officers are also planning for, or already engaged in, similar campaigns. Dr. H. H. Utley, who was formerly whole time county health officer for Johnston county, but who for economic reasons, it is said, was made part time health officer, will conduct an anti-typhoid campaign in his county this summer. He gave the treatment to 4,000 people last year and not one of them, it is claimed, has had fever. This commendable work on the part of Dr. Utley will doubtless save the county this summer many times over the price of an anti-typhoid campaign.

REGARDING HARVEST HANDS—KANSAS.

The Division of Information of the Bureau of Immigration, United States Department of Labor, has been advised by the State Commissioner of Labor and Industry, Topeka, Kas., that:

35,000 men will be needed this season for the grain harvest, but that men are coming into the state very rapidly and that those from a distance should not start to Kansas without first communicating with the Commissioner of Labor and Industry, Topeka, Kas. Harvest work is heavy, and only strong, able-bodied men should apply. Wages will average about $2.50 a day and board.

It will be necessary for all persons desiring this harvest work to defray their own expenses to and from the place of employment.

Mr. C. L. Green, general inspector in charge of employment and distribution work, representing the United States Department of Labor, will be stationed during the harvest season at Room 212, Postoffice Building, Kansas City, Mo. It is suggested that harvest hands who can do so without extra expense purchase tickets to destination by way of Kansas City, Mo., with stop-over privilege, for the purpose of calling on Mr. Green for detailed information. The services of Mr. Green and of the state officials are free.

CHORAL CONCERT WAS A SPLENDID SUCCESS

Local Musicians Entertain Visitors at Chautauqua

Assembly Hall Was Crowded With Appreciative Audience Last Night —Excellent Addresses—River Trip Feature Today.

Featured by a choral concert by a company of 40 trained singers, of Wilmington, under the capable direction of Mr. William Gemmell Robertson, organist and choirmaster of St. James' church, in the assembly hall of the Oceanic Hotel last evening the attractions of the third day of the Baptist Seaside Chautauqua at Wrightsville Beach were in every way equal in enjoyment and inspiration to the unusually excellent programmes of Monday and Tuesday. Today the lectures and addresses will be given on the steamer Wilmington, which will leave her wharf at 9 o'clock with several hundred people aboard, and will return this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The genial and ever hospitable Captain Harper has kindly offered to take the visitors down the river on this trip free of charge.

Tonight Dr. Lincoln Hulley, president of the John B. Stetson University, Leland, Fla., will deliver an address in the assembly hall of the Oceanic hotel.

The attendance at the lectures yesterday was larger than on any previous day and last evening every available seat in the large auditorium was taken. The music was soul inspiring and really exceeded the expectations of the most optimistic. The chorus work was grand, the ensemble was splendid, and the singing superb. The audience showed its appreciation by frequent outbursts of applause.

The soprano obligato "God of Our Fathers," by Mrs. William G. Robertson, was a most excellent rendition of this selection and was greeted with hearty applause. Mrs. Thomas M. Green captivated her hearers with the singing of "Clarissima" by Penn. The audience insisted that she should sing again but to no avail and they had to be content with this one selection. Mr. Charles Dushan sang the "Hungarian Love Song" by Roeckel and in response to persistent encore sang "A Perfect Day." Mr. Robertson was accompanist for the soloists.

The singing of both the women's and the men's choruses was splendid and reflected great credit upon those taking part. Mrs. H. E. O'Keef was accompanist and did her part in a highly satisfactory and acceptable manner.

The concerts closed with the singing by the mixed chorus of "With Sheafed Swords" by Naaman, which was a fitting climax to the evening of musical enjoyment. Mr. John F. Harris, Jr., sang the solo parts in this production with rare skill and technique.

The following were the singers participating:

Sopranos—Mesdames Boylan, Green, Price, Robertson, Thompson, Waring, Yates; Misses Bowen, Keith, Post, Riley, White, Catherine Williams Lila Williams.

Altos—Mesdames Edwards, Fenley muse, Taylor; Misses Bowen, Crumb.

Tenors—Messrs. Dosher, Dushan, Fenley, Gaddis, Hardison Lomas, Pratt, Schulken, Southerland, Williford.

Basses—Messrs. Christie, Fenley, Harrell, Harris, Haskett, Jones, McCall, Muse, O'Keef, Thompson, Tremaine.

One of the results of the concert last evening is expected to be the formation of a musical society. There are many excellent musicians in Wilmington and one of the needs long felt has been that of an organization in which all can come together and sing and enjoy music of the better class. Mr. Robertson, who trained the chorus for the concert last night, and to whom is due much of the credit for the excellent performance, is deeply interested in the formation of such an organization and has kindly consented to give freely of his time to the promotion of its objects.

Work Progressing Nicely.

The work of the Chautauqua is progressing nicely. The lectures yesterday morning by Dr. B. W. Spilman, of Kinston; Rev. T. J. Watts, of Columbia, S. C.; Dr. W. J. McGlochlin, of Louisville, Ky.; Rev. J. T. Watts, of Richmond, Va.; Miss Florence Whitney, of this city, and Mrs. R. D. Caldwell, of Lumberton, were every one gems, too much to be taken in and understood by one person in a day, so there were two departments organized and part of the crowd attended one department while the other attended the other.

One of the most interesting addresses of the morning, while they were all of the highest order and by people of big calibre, was "Seeing the Invisible," by Dr. Spilman.

Probably the two most enthusiastic men here and men who are worth a nameless price to any community in which they reside even though for only a short time, are the Watts brothers. Rev. T. J., of Columbia, S. C., and Rev. J. T., of Richmond, Va. These gentlemen are men of education and ability, and while they have not attained national reputations like Dr. White, who has just entertained the Chautauqua with three of the greatest and most entertaining and soul elevating lectures ever delivered at the beach, or the great Lincoln Hulley, who is to be here tonight and tomorrow, still their ability is recognized and their help to the Chautauqua is inestimable. Rev. T. J. Watts is general secretary of the South Carolina Baptist Assembly and Bible Conference and chairman of their programme committee. Rev. J. T. Watts is general secretary of the Virginia Baptist Summer Encampment. Both these men were heard yesterday and will be heard again today.

Steamer Trip Today.

All todays' programme, except the primary work, by Miss Annie L. Williams, will be on the steamer Wilmington, which trip is free to all holders of season tickets. Special cars will leave the Oceanic at 8:15 a. m. The steamer will leave at 9 o5clock and return at 3 p. m. The morning classes will be conducted on board the boat with shortened periods. There will be no Chautauqua feature at noon today. The lectures will be completed before reaching the mouth of the Cape Fear river. A short trip to sea will be taken before returning.

Arrangements will be made to serve light lunches and cold drinks on board. Those who prefer may provide their own lunches. It was announced in the ed programme that there would xtra charge of 50 cents to take chautauqua on the boat, but by rtesy of Captain Harper, it is Today's programme is as fol-

REV. T. J. WATTS.

Rev. Mr. Watts, with headquarters in Columbia, S. C., is Corresponding Secretary of the Baptist Young People's Union of the Southern Baptist Convention. He is scheduled to address the Baptist Seaside Chautauqua this morning on "Utilizing Every Member of the B. Y. P. U."

This announcement was made yesterday following a meeting which was attended by Chairman J. O. Carr and Mr. J. G. L. Gieschen. Mr. H. E. Bonitz, the architect for the building, also attended.

There were eight bidders, but all of the proposals were in excess of $50,000 and the board hopes to secure the erection of the building at a cost not exceeding this figure. Following the meeting which was held yesterday at noon the following statement, signed by Chairman Carr, was given out:

Certified checks are returned to bidders."

HEARING DELAYED

Oats Shipped to Wilmington Alleged to Be Adulterated.

The hearing has been delayed in the case in which Deputy Marshall J. N. Fennell a few days ago, under an order of seizure, took charge of a carload of oats consisting of 200 bags and shipped to this city June 1 by McDonald & Co., of New Albany, Ind., which shipment of oats is said to be in violation of section 7, Food and Drugs Act, paragraphs one and two. The oats are alleged to be adulterated with added water.

News comes from the deputy clerk's office that an answer has not yet been received from the shippers, hence the delay.

JUDGE ROUNTREE GIVES INSTRUCTIONS TO JURY

Court Hears Rumors of Threats Against Witnesses

Testimony Before Grand Jury Must be Kept Secret—No Intimation as to Outcome of Election Investigation Has Been Made.

While practically all the cases on the docket for the present term of Superior Court were completed yesterday, the investigation by the grand jury of alleged violations of the corrupt practices act in recent elections continues with no intimation as to its outcome, or as to when it will be completed. Many witnesses were examined yesterday, and it is understood that there are still a large number who have been summoned to give testimony.

Judge Rountree, who told the grand jury in his charge Monday morning that he wanted them to make a thorough investigation, yesterday had this body brought before him in open court and gave the members some additional instructions regarding their duties.

Judge Rountree said that rumors had come to his notice that attempts had been made to interfere with witnesses summoned before the grand jury. He declared that he would tolerate no interference with the court and instructed the jurors to report promptly any information received by them of any attempt on the part of any one to interfere with the work of that body.

He instructed Foreman E. H. Freeman that it was his duty to warn all witnesses appearing before the grand jury that they would be liable to indictment if they divulged any testimony given before that body.

Court took a recess yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, after practically the entire day had been taken up with the trial of Jim Heath, colored, who was charged with the embezzlement of $10.50 from a colored woman. He was convicted and prayer for judgment was continued for two years upon the condition that he return the money to the woman and also pay the costs of the action.

A nol pros with leave was entered in the cases against 16 citizens, charged with failure to list their property for taxes.

The cases against Plummer Gilbert and Clarence Hewlett, charged with being implicated in the robbery of the store of the C. W. Polvogt Co., were continued. C. H. Jones, a witness, was called and failed, and a fine of $40 was entered against him. The bond of $100 for Hewlett was continued, and the bond of $400, which Gilbert forfeited in Justice Harriss' court, was ordered paid into the school fund. A capias for Jones was ordered issued, and if found he will be required to give bond in the sum of $100.

Judge Rountree set aside the verdict of $125 which was awarded by the jury to the plaintiff in the case of J. G. Wright & Son against the Kidder Lumber Co. The plaintiff was given 30 days in which to file an amended complaint.

JOYNER NOTIFIES CARR OF HIS RE-APPOINTMENT

Could Not Decline Under Circumstances, Says Latter.

State Superintendent, in Letter of Notification, Says He Feels That Local Man Could Not Afford to Resign—Statement.

While Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, as secretary of the State Board of Education, yesterday dictated the formal notification to J. O. Carr, Esq., of Wilmington, that the State Board had reappointed him as a member of the New Hanover County Board of Education, the official notification had not reached Mr. Carr last night. However, Mr. Carr said that under the circumstances he felt that he could not decline the appointment. In the letter of notification, according to a Raleigh dispatch to The Star, Dr. Joyner expressed the opinion that Mr. Carr could not afford to resign after the State Board had by its support of him for re-appointment shown its recognition and appreciation of his value to the New Hanover school system.

Dr. Joyner's Position.

Dr. Joyner's position with reference to the rumor that had reached Raleigh to the effect that Mr. Carr would probably resign after the winning fight for his reappointment had been concluded is described in a dispatch received last night from The Star's Raleigh correspondent, which reads as follows:

"Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, as secretary of the State Board of Education, dictated this morning the notification to Mr. J. O. Carr, of Wilmington, that the State Board has re-appointed him on the New Hanover county school board as the outcome of the bitter fight that has been going on since the recent session of the Legislature and brought about the strenuous and in some respects sensational hearing before the board yesterday.

"Asked about statements that had been made that Mr. Carr might resign from the New Hanover board after the fight was all over and his appointment procured, Dr. Joyner expressed the view that such a course was most unlikely.

"In fact, he considers that there is no likelihood of any resignation and feels sure that Mr. Carr and his friends would realize that it would be unfair to the State board for him to retire after the board has taken the stand it has in his support and for the policies he represents as the chairman of the New Hanover board. Members of the State board are confident that Mr. Carr will continue his work for the Wilmington and New Hanover schools, which they declare constitute easily one of the very best county and city systems to be found in the State."

Mr. Carr's Attitude.

Mr. Carr, who has made no statement about the matter since the fight against him began about four months ago and who had not indicated whether or not he would accept, if re-appointed, was asked last night to state his attitude on the subject and in reply made the following statement:

"I have not yet received official notification of my appointment, but presume I will. Early in January I notified my associates on the Board of Education that I would not stand for re-appointment, and I had definitely determined to pursue this purpose until the attack began, when I deemed it wise to make no announcement, but to let the matter take its own course. I think that the position is one no person should accept unless he makes up his mind to sacrifice his time and devote himself to the work for no other motive except the desire to render some service to the children of the community.

"Under the circumstances I could not decline to accept the appointment. The last two or three years have been devoted to the physical equipment of the schools. During the coming year the efforts of everybody will be centered on increasing the efficiency of the schools, and next spring results will be produced such as have never before been seen here. The teaching force for next year is complete and was never so good as now. The parents and children are in thorough harmony with the work and every indication points toward general co-operation for a common purpose."

INTERESTED IN CANNING

Large Attendance at Demonstrations Given by Miss Scott, of Raleigh, in County This Week.

"The three canning demonstrations held at Winter Park, Castle Haynes and Wrightsboro were largely attended and were pronounced by all to have been grand successes," said Mr. J. P. Herring, county farm demonstrator, yesterday with reference to the visit of Miss Margaret Scott, of Raleigh, a canning expert, who is now engaged in demonstration work in several counties in Eastern North Carolina.

"At Winter Park we had 45 present and canned beans, beets, tomatoes, okra, blackberries and rhubarb or pie plant. At Castle Haynes we had 30 present and canned beans, beets, tomatoes and blackberries. At Wrightsboro we had 55 present and canned beans, corn, beets, okra, tomatoes, peaches and blackberries.

"These demonstrations were very practical and Miss Scott tried to go into the minutest details of the work, explaining that it is the little things that count in successful canning.

"It is fully demonstrated at these meetings that our people are awake to the necessity of taking care of the waste products which can be done only by the home canning or club canning work. We feel sure that Miss Scott's coming will be the means of saving hundreds of dollars' worth of products now going to waste in our fields."

Mr. Herring said that he was especially pleased to see so many of the ladies of Sorosis and the Housewives' League present at the demonstration at Wrightsboro Tuesday afternoon. He pointed out that it is impossible for any great success to be achieved in canning unless the people of the city are interested. "We must have a market for our products," he declared, "and this we cannot have unless the city people will buy from us."

Mr. Herring is a firm advocate of canning, more canning and better canning. However, he does not believe in trying to do too much at first. He is willing to co-operate in every movement that will be beneficial and then gradually launch out into greater things—in a nutshell to be conservative.

It is a doctor's prescription which proved so wonderfully successful for skin troubles that it has been used by other doctors all over the country for twenty years. No other treatment for the skin now before the public can show such a record of professional approval. Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment (50c. and $1.00), and Resinol Soap (25c.). They do wonders for pimples, blackheads, dandruff and chafings, and are a comfort to skin-tortured babies.

Safety+Quickness

"Safety First" must ever be the watchword in firearms. But safety must not be secured at the expense of quick action. The Colt Automatic Pistol combines the most dependable kind of safety—automatic safety—with instant firing.

The Colt can't be discharged accidentally, because the trigger must be pulled and the safety in the grip must be pressed in at the same instant and this can't be done except it is done purposely. So much for safety.

As for quickness, the Colt always gets there first, for in an emergency you don't have to bother with or think about the grip safety—it takes care of itself and you.

BEAUTIFUL CHURCH WEDDING IN GOLDSBORO YESTERDAY.

Goldsboro, North Carolina, June 23. —An unusually beautiful wedding was solemnized in the First Baptist church of this city at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, the contracting parties being two of Goldsboro's best known and most popular young people, Miss Hazel Hunt, the lovely and universally esteemed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hunt, and Mr. Jos. Andrew Smith, for years the bookkeeper and confidential accountant of the substantial mercantile house of M. J. Best & Sons, and who enjoys the absolute confidence and good wishes of all who know him, either in business or socially.

As the congregation awaited the procession, a choir of superb voices, all especial friends of the bride and groom, with Miss Annie D. Denmark at the pipe organ, rendered choice selections. The choir was composed of Mrs. T. P. Jenkins, Mrs. T. J. Poole, Miss Mildred Edmundson, Miss Mary Spence, Hon. D. H. Bland, Mr. Leslie Yelverton, Mr. W. E. Gehres and Mr. John Arment.

As the bridal party were assembling in the vestibule, Mrs. T. B. Jenkins sang, in a voice of wonderful compass and lute-like sweetness, "A Perfect Day," and then as the processional advanced to the altar the whole choir rendered, with joyously thrilling effect, Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus."

There were only two attendants—the maid of honor, the bride's younger sister, Miss Clara Hunt, and the best man, the groom's nephew, Mr. W. A. Dees, of the Goldsboro bar; but these were preceded by ten young lady friends of the bride, who approached up either aisle in twos, crossing at the chancel and forming the letter S, a very pretty picture of superlative maidenly beauty.

The ushers were Messrs. J. Ray Hunt, a brother of the bride, of Wilmington; Ross I. Giddens, S. F. Teague and Herndon Tuttle. When all these had entered and taken their places, the maid of honor approached the chancel, where stood the officiating minister in waiting, and she was followed by the bride gowned in a most becoming going-away suit of blue, with hat to match, and walking with her father, while the groom approached with his best man and received his bride at the chancel, when immediately to the softened notes of the organ the bridal service began and was mutually spoken with religious fervor and all spiritual solemnity and impressiveness.

The prayer over and the benediction given the organ peeled forth the triumphal notes of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and with joyous step and happy radiant faces the recessional was soon over and as friends thronged around the waiting carriages to congratulate the bridal pair many were the good wishes showered upon and heralded after them as they were driven off for the Union station where they boarded the 2 o'clock train over the Southern for an extended bridal trip west.

WALTZ AND TWO-STEP DANCES AT LUMINA

In response to suggestions from a number of Wilmington people and other visitors to Lumina, the Tide Water Power Company has decided to have two-steps and waltzes at this pavilion. The orchestra will play several selections each night, and those not acquainted with some of the newer dances will be given an opportunity to enjoy themselves as well as the younger people.

"I believe it would add visitors to your beach," writes a Wilmington person, who styles himself a dancer of the old school. "In Wilmington alone there are hundreds of busy housewives who love dancing, but haven't time to keep up with the new dances, yet would go down and dance, if given the advantage of a waltz or two-step. Many young girls who were frequent visitors to your beach, when waltzing was in vogue, now go elsewhere for their amusement because their mothers object to the new dances. Lots of girls from small towns (I know this to be so) who used to come down to Wrightsville for visits during the summer now go elsewhere because there's nothing for them to do when they get to Wrightsville now except watch others dance, as their home-town folks object to the new dances too much for a dancing school to thrive and they are thereby deprived of an opportunity to learn them."

TAR HEEL BANKERS ARRIVE IN GOTHAM.

Mr. W. C. Denny, of Wilmington, Tells New Yorkers About Conditions.

The following correspondence in yesterday's Raleigh News and Observer will be of local interest:

"Sixty North Carolina financiers, not a 'colonel' nor a 'major' among them, just plain bankers, members of the North Carolina State Bankers' Association, which has been holding its 19th annual convention at a seaside resort near Wilmington, arrived yesterday afternoon the Clyde Line steamship Comanche. They will remain in New York any old time between three days and a month, according to their several desires. A goodly half of them are quartered at the Vanderbilt Hotel and fairly exude prosperity. Comparing little old New York with Raleigh, Goldsboro, Wilmington and other places that king cotton has made rich in the last quarter of a century, their ideas and opinions are listened to here.

"'Banking business in North Carolina is in far better shape than it was eight months ago,' said W. C. Denny, of Wilmington and LaGrange, president of the Farmers' Bank & Trust Company, of LaGrange, who is the representative officially of Thomas E. Cooper, of Wilmington, president of the association, who did not accompany the members to New York, but who is one of seven brothers, each of whom is a North Carolina bank president.

"'The farmers of our State,' he continued, 'are enjoying a very great prosperity. The cotton planting covers a very restricted area this year, the planters having gone in for more diversified crops to a larger extent than for many years before. More wheat, corn and livestock is being raised. The farmer who used to confine himself to cotton and buy his bacon and flour finds he can raise it himself cheaper and better. The Federal Reserve Bank at Richmond, which is our territory, is working very smoothly and is a great aid to our bankers and their customers'."

The pen will be presented through Northam's, with the compliments of the L. E. Waterman Company.

This recognition from afar of the Bijou's contest is indeed flattering, and is simply another evidence of the fact that the party of ladies who go on this trip will receive notice and attention from all parts of the United States.

association. I am not unmindful of the duties and responsibilities that accompany the honor, but without support of a loyal membership, it would have been impossible to have accomplished results. And at this time I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the officers, committees, and individual members for the assistance as they have rendered. We meet together, not as practitioners of dentistry only, but as men interested and concerned for the betterment of civic conditions. We came to discuss, not only the practical ways and means of following our profession, but also to study those questions which concern the conservation of public health and life.

"Our work is not alone for our immediate locality, but it is for the whole country, and not only for the country, but for the whole world, because this country leads all other countries in the world of porgress in dentistry and in this we should take an especial pride, for just as we are apt to look abroad for leadership in medicine and surgery, the rest of the world looks to America for leadership in dentistry. They look to us for the ideals and we make the ideals. The work that we do is sometimes wearisome, just a pure labor of love, but as has been well said, our work is our religion and our religion our work. We not only work for the money that is in our profession, although that is absolutely necessary, but there is a far higher aim in this association, and that is the preservation and conservation of public health and life.

Professional Ideals.

"The maximum strength of our dental association is wholly dependent on the concerted effort put forth to not only maintain the present interest, but to in every possible way stimulate and increase this interest. The development of this maximum strength makes possible the conservation of these professional ideals which are worthy of retention; the advancing of our standards, in order to keep pace with healthy progress; the encouraging and supporting of officers, committees and those who contribute to the programme as well as those qualified to do scientific research work, the fostering of fraternal spirit and broadening of the individual. All of these are things worth while and only made possible through efficient and well managed organizations.

"The officers, more than all others, will be held responsible for the development of the association into a strictly representative, harmonious, cooperative and influential association which will make possible the advancement of our profession, thus assuring a more efficient service to afflicted humanity.

"Dentistry as a profession, can claim a history of only three-quarters of a century. Much progress has been made during this period, but the first decade is especially noteworthy for its achievements. The present decade, of which we will assume this is the fifth year, should be productive of such development and progress as to make this surpass any two decades of our former history. The bringing together of the organized profession of our country, whereby it will be possible to accomplish results which have heretofore been considered impractical, is the achievement that should meet with the general approval and loyal support of all interested in our advancement.

Predicts Bright Future.

"The work of the research commission is an evidence of what can be accomplished through concerted effort backed by an effective organization. If I mistake not, the closing decade will see more advancement than many of us would even think of prophesying at this time. The fact that the medical profession, the health and educational authorities, the civic and philanthropic organizations, as well as the laity, are looking to us for co-operation and relief, prompts me to say that we must appreciate our responsibilities and improve our opportunities.

"As president of your society, I wish to thank the legislative committee for their untiring efforts and I wish to say to the society that they made no mistake in appointing Drs. Davis, Hunt and Johnson, your committee for they have secured the passage of one of the best, if not the best, dental laws in the United States. I wish to thank those who assisted your committee.

"The North Carolina Dental Society congratulates the Research Commission of the National Dental Association. They have given us, as a result of this work, information that cannot be paid in dollars and cents.

"This research commission deserves the co-operation of this society, and I would recommend that the committee be appointed to work in conjunction with the commission in rendering them assistance in their research work. I would recommend that we render financial aid. In the last financial report of the commission, North Carolina was one of the four states that had not contributed."

Today's Programme.

Today the post-graduate progressive lecture and clinic courses will be given. Dr. Thomas P. Hinman, of Atlanta, will make an extended discussion on "Manipulation of Plastics." Dr. Alonzo Milton Nodine, of New York City, will discuss "Radiography," Dr. Clinton C. Howard, of Atlanta, on "Orthodontia," the construction and manipulation of new appliances. Clinics will be taken care of by Drs. J. H. Wheeler, of Greensboro; J. W. Stanly, of Wilmington; George K. Patterson, of Wilmington. This evening Dr. Charles R. Turner, of Philadelphia, will read a paper, "The Present Status of So-called Anatomical Articulation." More of the educational work of the day will be carried on this evening.

COTTON PRICES RALLIED

Offerings Were Comparatively Light, Regardless of Bearish View of Weather and Crop News.

New York, June 23. — While a generally bearish view appeared to be taken of weather and crop news in the cotton market here today, offerings were comparatively light and prices rallied quite sharply with the close firm at a net advance of 3 to 7 points. Cables were about as expected, and the local market opened steady at a decline of 1 to an advance of 2 points, but soon eased off under a renewal of scattering July liquidation and some foreign selling of the later deliveries. A firmer turn in the Liverpool market was followed by a rally here which carried prices back to about last night's closing figures during the middle of the morning.

Generally speaking, weather conditions were considered favorable and following the publication of the weekly report of the weather bureau indicating that the crop had made good progress on the average prices again eased off under scattering liquidation and local selling. This decline was checked at a net loss of about 4 to 5 points by covering and the market later rallied on spot buying and a moderate demand through houses with New Orleans connections. Possibly the failure of the bearish weekly report to create more selling pressure promoted the covering of recent sellers on the advance and closing prices were the best of the day.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

Prices Made Only Small Changes on Yesterday's Session.

New Orleans, June 23.—Cotton made only small price changes today closing at a net gain of 5 to 7 points. Last prices were within a point of the best. At one time in the early trading, the market stood at a net decline of 2 to 3 points but bears seemed to prefer to even up old business rather than to take in new and values were fairly well sustained thereafter.

The weekly weather reports were more favorable than expected but their influence was offset by the uncertainty over the effect of yesterday's storm in the northern portions of the belt. Official reports from a large part of the belt were lacking but private claims were that much crop damage had been done.

Late in the session shorts increased their demand for covers and the market took on a better tone than it had shown at any previous part of the season. The better feeling induced moderate buying for long account.

Spot cotton quiet, unchanged. Middling 9.00; sales on the spot 260 bales; to arrive 1,120.

Cotton futures closing: July 9.13; October 9.56; December 9.78; January 9.90; March 10.14.

COTTON SEED OIL MARKET.

New York, June 23.—There was another active trade in cotton seed oil today. Early liquidation and bearish crops new produced forenoon heaviness but later extensive covering with support from refiners and the strength of lard, caused a quick recovery and the close was firm at five points decline to four points advance. The market closed firm: Spot, 5.95@6.10; June, 5.95@6.10; July, 6.05@6.08; August, 6.23@ [illegible] September, 6.41@6.43; October, [illegible]44; November, 6.40@6.42; De[illegible], 6.43@6.45; January, 6.45@6.49. DR. POTEAT ON LEADERSHIP.

Addresses Young Men's Conference at Blue Ridge.

Asheville, N. C., June 22. — Dr. W. L. Poteat, president of Wake Forest College, was the principal speaker at the Y. M. C. A. students' conference at Blue Ridge, today. Dr. Poteat spoke on "Leadership," enumerating for his hearers the various qualities necessary for the assumption of authority and responsibility conferred on a leader among men. The principal attribute necessary, Mr. Poteat declared, was to be a real man, and to connect one's self with God.

St. Louis, June 22.—Congressman L. C. Dyer, of Missouri, today made public a letter he had written to President Wilson urging a special session of Congress to pass laws to prohibit the exportation of munitions of war during the period of the European war.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS DOMINATE

Russian Defeat in Galicia and Selling of American Securities in London Affects Market.

New York, June 23.—Foreign affairs again took precedence over the domestic situation today, the market apparently being governed by the Russian defeat in Galicia and further selling of American securities in London. While these sales in themselves were not extensive, they were sufficiently large to effect a decline in Canadian Pacific to 147 3-4, the lowest since 1908. Conditions abroad were further complicated by renewed weakness here in French and German exchange.

Reading's strength and activity, together with advances in other coal shares, furnished one of the few features of the day. War specialties were more variable than usual, declines and advances being fairly divided. Coppers were lower. The effect of additional foreign offers were apparent in the regular market for bonds, particularly the international group. Among the minor inactive issues, some sharp gains were made.

Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,510,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

EXAMINE PIECES OF METAL

Found Inside Nebraskan in Effort to Determine Nationality of Torpedo.

Washington, June 22.—Naval experts in torpedo construction are comparing with standard types of foreign torpedoes the fragments of metal found inside the great hole torn in the bow of the American steamship Nebraskan by an exterior explosion off the coast of Ireland several keeks ago. It is understood preliminary investigations have indicted that the Nebraskan was torpedoed.

The inquiry will be continued for about ten days with the hope of definitely clearing up this question and of proving the nationality of the torpedo, if that were what struck the ship.

TEMPERANCE APPLAUDED BY ADVERTISING MEN.

Impromptu Discussion of Subject Invokes Favorable Demonstration.

Chicago, June 22.—The 11th annual convention of the Advertising Clubs of the World separated into sections at the close of the morning session today and book publishers, newspaper ad men solicitors, directory publishers, bill board men and other divisions took up the problems presented by work in their respective lines.

At the final gathering before the sectional conferences began an impromptu discussion of temperance evoked a favorable demonstration.

"The applause given the idea of temperance is significant of the national trend of thought," said H. S. Houston, of New York, to night. "These men in the advertising game are in closer touch with the public feeling and desires than any other class except newspaper men. They reflect the general state of mind on a grave problem and conclusions may be drawn from their attitude."

The newspaper advertising section adopted a standard of practice, representing, delegates said, the aims and purposes of most of the newspapers of the United States and the standard is binding on members of the organization. The standard follows:

"To make none but true statements of circulation.

"To maintain advertising rates as published.

"To reject fraudulent advertising.

"To oppose free publicity."

Interest was developed today in the selection of a successor to President William Woodhead, of San Francisco. Among the candidates mentioned were H. S. Houston, New York, and George W. Coleman, of Boston. The candidacy of George S. Thomas, of Dallas, for vice president, was announced today, as was that of A. S. Flores for re-election as secretary-treasurer.

FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORT.

Nothing Doing North of Arras—Artillery Duels Conclude, Says Statement.

Paris, June 23.—Tonight's war office communication said:

"North of Arras nothing was reported today except several infantry actions. North of Suchez we made slight progress and repulsed a German counter attack. The cannonade has not ceased in the sector between Angres and Ecurie.

"Near Berry Au Bac we exploded a mine which very seriously damaged the German trenches.

"In Champagne on the Perthes-Beausejour front, an action by means of mines occurred and a violent cannonade.

"On the heights of the Meuse at the Calonne trench the enemy this morning delivered a violent attack which enabled him to re-take his former second line. In the course of the afternoon a new German attack was started, it was immediately checked:

"Taking in our turn, the offensive, we regained a foothold in the second line of the enemy.

"In the outskirts of LePretre forest, the enemy bombarded in a particularly intence fashion our positions in the 'Quart En Reserve.'

"In Lorraine we have occupied two works near Leintrey. We took some prisoners, among them three officers.

"In the Vosges storms and a thick fog prevail."

"HE WAS A BRAVE ENEMY."

Emperor William's Tribute of Respect to Dead British Aviator.

Basel, Switz., June 22, via Paris, June 23.—Dispatches from Germany tell of a meeting of aerial experts held recently at Friedrichshafen to discuss the question of constructing on top of all Zeppelins launched in the future a platform for machine guns. These would be used to drive away enemy aeroplanes and protect the Zeppelins from attacks such as that delivered over Belgium by the British aviator Warneford.

The opinion was expressed at this conference that Warneford had exploded the theory of Count Zeppelin that his airships cannot be approached and attacked by aeroplanes.

Another message from Germany says that Emperor William when he heard of the death of Aviator Warneford said:

"He was a brave enemy."

DECLARES FIGHTING FIERCE.

Official Statement Given Out at Vienna Before the Fall of Lemberg.

London, June 23.—An official statement issued at Vienna Tuesday but delayed in reaching London describes the fighting immediately preceding the fall of Lemberg as follows:

"The Russian defensive prositions south of the town have been completely broken by our troops. Some fortifications on the western and the northwestern front of Lemberg came into our possession after violent fighting in which the Vienna Landwehr particularly distinguished themselves.

"German troops stormed the positions west of Kitlikow and north of Lemberg, repulsing Russian counter attacks."

The statement adds that the situation in other parts of the eastern front generally is unchanged.

AUSTRIA AND GERMANY REJOICE.

Rulers of Those Countries and Turkey Exchange Messages—Holiday.

London, June 23.—News of the fall of Lemberg produced an outburst of wild joy throughout Austria and Germany, says an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph. All Berlin is flag-bedecked.

Emperor William and Emperor Francis-Joseph exchanged long telegrams of felicitation. The Sultan of Turkey telegraphed at length both to Berlin and Vienna.

School children of Germany and Austria will be given a holiday tomorrow.

SENATON OVERMAN IS BACK FROM HONOLULU

Delivered Two Addresses in San Francisco, Cal.

People There Standing by President Wilson in His Foreign Policy —Senator Lewis to Address Bar Association.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., June 23.—Senator Lee S. Overman, who has just returned from a trip to the Hawaiian Islands, arrived here today, and was in conference with several of the cabinet members. The senior senator spent two hours with Attorney General Gregory this morning discussing conditions in the islands and later held a conference with Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

The junior senator made two speeches in San Francisco, where he declared the people were supporting President Wilson in his foreign policy. Mr. Overman spoke to the Chamber of Commerce at San Francisco on his way out and when he returned was again invited to deliver an address. The mention of President Wilson's name brought prolonged applause, he said.

Senator Overman met many North Carolinians on the Pacific coast. All of them, he said, were doing well financially. M. P. Snyder, formerly of Davidson county, is one of the wealthy men in Los Angeles. He is president of one of the largest banks and has been three times elected mayor of his town. Another Tar Heel who is doing well is Peter Grogan, who attended the same school with the senator in Winston-Salem.

Mail for Camp Glenn.

Mail for Camp Glenn will be delivered at the camp in locked mail pouches during the encampment of the National Guard. Representative Webb and Senator Simmons requested that the arrangement be made.

It will be between two or three years before actual work is begun on the Chapel Hill postoffices, according to Herbert Sink, Senator Simmons' clerk, who has been in consultation with the supervising architect. An effort will be made to provide temporary quarters pending the erection of the new building.

The Postoffice Department has revoked its former order discontinuing the postoffice at Dysartville and establishing a rural route instead. Protests were filed and the order has been rescinded.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, one of the best orators in the Senate, hopes to be able to accept the invitation extended to him by Secretary Ward, of Newbern, to address the State Bar Association which meets at Asheville in August. The Illinois senator is anxious to again visit the State. He said today that unless matters of great importance prevented he would certainly attend. P. R. A.

AMERICANS WARNED TO USE PASSPORTS WHEN ABROAD.

Ambassador at London Says Great Numbers Ignore Advise.

Washington, June 23—Another warning to Americans against going to British ports without passports or other identification papers is given in a report received at the State Department today from Ambassador Page at London.

"Notwithstanding the warning which the department has conveyed to steamship agencies," says the ambassador, "I regret to report that there is no improvement in that respect to the arrival of Americans from the United States. The consul at Liverpool informs the embassy that they continue to arrive in increasing numbers with no means of identification, and that the alien officers at that port, who at first showed a disposition to treat as leniently as possible infractions of the regulations which were due to ignorance, have now been obliged to deal more severely with some persons."

and a diplomatist Mr. Lansing is known to his friends as a devoted and successful golfer, and fisherman, somthing of a baseball fan, a skillful landscape painter, and a draftsman, and possessor of a gift of verse, known to his friends but not the general public.

The appointment of Mr. Lansing creates a vacancy in the office of Counsellor of the State Department. It is not excepted that any immediate selection will be made as Chandler Anderson, under the administration of Secretary Knox for several months, has been especially employed to handle some of the numerous questions the war raised.

Mr. Anderson does not desire a permanent appointment. It is considered likely that President Wilson will leave to Mr. Lansing the task of selecting his counsellor.

To Look and Feel Bright in Hot Weather

This is the season when she who would have a lily-white complexion should turn her thoughts to mercolized wax, and the firm friend of the summer girl. Nothing so effectually overcomes the soiling effects of sun, wind, dust and dirt. The wax literally absorbs the scorched, discolored, freckled, withered or coarsened cuticle, bringing forth a brand new skin, clear, soft and girlishly beautiful. It also unclogs the pores, removing the blackheads and increasing the skin's breathing capacity. An ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drugstore, applied nightly like cold cream, and washed off mornings, will gradually improve the worst complexion.

When depressed by the heat and you want to freshen up for the afternoon or evening, bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. You'll find this more refreshing than an hour's rest. It is fine for smoothing out wrinkles, even the deeper ones.

INQUIRY BOARD GOES FULLY INTO DETAILS

Of Irregularities at the Naval Academy

Are Especially Anxious to Learn About Visits of Midshipmen to Offices of Heads of Various Departments—Witnesses.

Annapolis, Md., June 23.—The court of inquiry investigating irregularities in Naval Academy examination papers, today went further into the matter of secret visits by midshipmen to the offices of various heads of departments.

C. M. Reagle of the former third class, who admitted yesterday that he had roamed through several of the departments with the aid of a master key, a pair of pliers and a picket searchlight, figured largely in today's testimony.

W. D. Jones, a classmate, testified that he had accompanied Reagle, on one of the nocturnal expeditions in search of midshipmen's class marks in advance of their being given out. Asked if he had known Reagle to have any other advance information in his possession, Jones said he at one time had seen Reagle with a mechanical drawing which he (Reagle) thought would be a sheet in the next exercise in mechanical drawing.

Jones thought Reagle's surmise had proven correct. In answer to another question, Jones said he did not think much of Reagle's integrity and his opinion was shared by the majority of Reagle's company. The same answer was given later by William F. Dietrich, of the same class.

Dietrich said Reagle was intimate with R. M. Nelson, who with six others has been recommended for dismissal for making use of advance information on examinations.

A room mate of Reagle, W. H. Hopkins, Jr., testified that he had obtained advance information from Reagle on the last annual English examination. Reagle had told him he gathered the "dope" from other midshipmen, but Hopkins said he had since heard from three or four midshipmen that it was reported Reagle had gotten it from the English department.

David Glick, who followed Hopkins on the stand, said he and Reagle had gone into the English department to look for marks. The two also had entered the modern languages department about ten days before the examination. Glick said Reagle had a key that would open a door into the modern languages department.

fred Thomas, managing director of great colliery companies in South Wales and known as the "British coal king," to represent the munitions department in the United States and Canada. Respecting this appointment the minister said:

Buying Agents in America.

"In consequences of the great importance of the American and Canadian markets and the numerous offers to provide munitions, it is very desirable that we have some one over there. Accordingly we have sent a very able business man, Mr. D. A. Thomas, who will be given the fullest responsibilities for discharge of his important duties. There is not the slightest idea of superceding our existing agencies. They have worked admirably and have saved us many millions. Mr. Thomas will cooperate with the Messrs. Morgan with a view to expediting supplies."

Speaking of German preparation the minister said:

"Germany has been piling up material. Until she was ready she was friendly with everybody. During the Balkan crisis none could have been more modest or unpretentious. She had a benevolent smile for France. She walked arm-in-arm with Great Britain through the chancelleries of Europe. We really thought an era of peace and good will had come. At that moment she was forging and hiding away enormous war stores to attack her neighbors unawares and murder than in their sleep.

"If that trickery is to succeed, all the bases of international good will crumble to dust. It is essential for the peace of the world that it should fail, and it is up to us to see that it does so. It depends more on Great Britain than on any one else to see that it fails.

"One of the pillars of good government is that evil doing shall be punished; that is equally true in the sphere of international government. Valor alone will not achieve success, or the valor of our brave men at the front would have achieved it long ago. We must strain every resource of the machinery of organization at our disposal so as to drive conviction into the heart of every nation over the whole world that those governments who deceive their neighbors to their ruin do so at their peril."

The ministers preoration was greeted with loud and prolonged cheers.

MAY BE CHILD MURDERER

Man Thought to Be Crazy, Being Held in Philadelphia, Knows a Lot.

Philadelphia, June 23.—Police authorities and alienists today continued their examination of George Blumlein, arrested here yesterday on suspicion of being the man who recently killed two small children on the East Side, New York.

Physicians believe Blumlein is suffering from hallucinations. He declares he is being persecuted. He was take ninto custody after he had walked up and down a corridor in front of police headquarters in the city hall for several hours. He told a rambling story and mentioned the child murders in New York. His familiarity with the details of those crimes caused the police to immediately notify the New York authorities.

SAYS NEUTRAL NATIONS SHOULD ASSERT RIGHTS

Congressman Metz Addresses N. C. Cotton Mill Men.

Says Only Relief From Critical Dyestuff Situation is Modification of British Order in Council—Meeting in Charlotte.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Charlotte, N. C., Jnu e23.—Congressman H. A. Metz, of New York, head of the Ferbwerke-Hoeschest dye importing firm of New York, addressing the North Carolina Cotton Manufacturers' Association on the dyestuff situation here today, said the United States government should assert its rights as a neutral nation and have the seas opened to commerce and that the English order in council prohibiting commerce between Germany and other parts of the world would have to be rescinded before the dyestuff situation, which is critical could be memedied.

He said further that Germany is prepared, in retaliation for the English order in council, to absolutely prohibit the export of dyestuffs, even if it ruined the industry, rather than let it be surreptitiously sent abroad. The point of view of Germany, he said, was that the neutral nations, led by the United States, should demand that the seas be open to commerce. Mr. Metz has been to Germany since the war broke out and is an authority on the matter of dyestuffs.

The meeting of the association, which was largely attended, adjourned with a smoker tonight.

Fifteen hundred Elks are expected here by tomorrow for the annual meeting of the State Association of Elks, the advance guard arriving in strong numbers tonight.
